

JOURNALS OF THE PRÍNCIPE DE VIANA INSTITUTION

AUTHORSHIP REQUIREMENTS

The author must meet the following requirements to participate in the journal:

1. That he/she is the author of this work, has participated in its design, execution and interpretation of the results, has critically reviewed the work and approved its final version and agrees with its publication. It is therefore responsible for its content for all purposes.
2. The work is original and unpublished, and has not been and will not be sent to another journal for publication, unless it is rejected.
3. None of the data presented in this paper has been plagiarized, invented, manipulated or distorted.
4. There are no personal or financial relationships that may introduce prejudices and biases in the development or results of this work.
5. The original sources on which the information contained in the text is based are identified and cited, as well as the theories and data from other previously published works.
6. The origin of the figures, tables, data, photographs and images is adequately cited in the article and, where appropriate, the necessary permissions are provided for their reproduction on paper and digitally. The undersigned assumes the cost of the reproduction rights and is responsible for having managed the corresponding authorizations, exonerating the management of the journal from any responsibility or incident derived from the infringement of intellectual or commercial property rights.
7. The consent of those who have provided unpublished data obtained through verbal or written communication has been obtained, and such communication and authorship are properly identified. The acknowledgments mention all those persons who, having granted their permission for such a mention, have contributed substantially to the development of the work.
8. No signature responsible for the work has been omitted and the criteria for scientific authorship are satisfied.
9. The authors of this paper have avoided making mistakes in its experimental or theoretical design, in the presentation of the results and in their interpretation. If they discover any substantial error in the article, before or after publication, they will immediately alert the journal's management.
10. The results of this study have been interpreted objectively. Any results contrary to the point of view of those who sign are exposed and discussed in the article.
11. All sources of funding granted for this study are recognized, if any, indicating in a concise manner the funding body and the identification code.
12. The rights of transmission, distribution and dissemination of the original submitted for publication are hereby transferred free of charge. The journal reserves the right to distribute the published version of the article on the Internet under the terms of a Creative Commons license of use and distribution in the modality of attribution of authorship and non-commercial use (by-nc). This license allows third parties to share the work as long as its author and its first publication in this journal are indicated. Authors may adopt other non-exclusive licensing agreements for the distribution of the published work (e.g., depositing it in an institutional telematic archive or publishing it in a monographic volume) provided that the initial publication in this journal is indicated. Authors are allowed and encouraged to disseminate their work through the Internet.

13. The author must communicate whether they have used technological tools assisted by artificial intelligence (AI) to create texts, images or translations in the work presented.